OLDWORLDFEDERATION.COM

WELCOME TO OLD WORLD FEDERATION!

Founded in 2025, the Old World Federation (OWF) is the premier global organization dedicated to the development and promotion of organized play for Warhammer: The Old World. Our core mission is to cultivate a vibrant, inclusive, and thriving community for all enthusiasts of this rich fantasy universe. Through meticulously organized tournaments and engaging special events, the OWF offers players of every skill level the opportunity to test their mettle, hone their strategic skills, forge new friendships, and fully immerse themselves in the epic battles of the Old World. We actively collaborate with stores, clubs, and regional organizations worldwide to ensure that every OWF-sanctioned event is an unforgettable and high-quality experience.

VALIDITY

This Infopack is valid starting from February 2, 2026. The document remains in effect from the date indicated above until it is updated with the next version.

GENERAL PRINCIPLES

Every tournament sanctioned by OWF must follow the guidelines set out in this document. During tournaments, each person involved assumes a specific role, which entails distinct responsibilities and expected behavior. The main roles are: Spectator, Player, Referee, and Organizer. Any aspect not explicitly mandated in this document is left to the discretion of the Organizer, who must communicate it in advance by including it in the “Additional Information” section of the tournament at the time of publication. Be sure to regularly check the “Resources” section of the Play Old World portal to always have the most up-to-date version.

PLAY OLD WORLD

Play Old World is the event and tournament system of the Old World Federation. It is managed through the Play Old World portal, available free of charge upon registration at oldworldfederation.com. Events within the Old World Federation are divided into four levels, each with specific characteristics.

The “Sunday” Tournaments: Regional Series 500

This level grants organizers complete freedom to structure and run their events. These are one- or two day events featuring three or five matches (over 2 days). A minimum of 12 available spots is required to organize this event in single, or 6 teams of 3 in Team Regional Series. Crucially, these events are open to all players, guaranteeing maximum accessibility and community reach.

The Big Events: Grand Prix 1000

The Grand Prix level permits each OWF region to host up to six (6) high-profile events annually, establishing key “historic” milestones within the competitive season. All Grand Prix events are open to all players, ensuring maximum accessibility to the competitive circuit.

Singles Grand Prix: Requires a minimum of 40 spots and can be run as a fast-paced 1-Day (3 Match) or a comprehensive 2-Day (5 Match) event.

Team Grand Prix: Must be run as a 2-Day (5 Match) event, requiring a minimum of 8 team of 5 players spots

National Championship: the Finals

These events represent the pinnacle of regional competition, organized on a national scale and managed directly by the respective OWF Region, often with vital support from local organizing bodies. Events in this category—the Singles Finals and the Team Finals—are highly prestigious, determining and awarding the official National Champions for each region. Despite their competitive significance, all Finals events are open to all players, ensuring accessibility to the highest level of play. Each OWF Region is restricted to hosting a maximum of one (1) Singles Finals and one (1) Team Finals per year.

Singles Finals: Must guarantee at least 60 available spots for players.

Team Finals: Must guarantee at least 12 team spots (with each team consisting of 5 players).

These Finals serve as the competitive culmination of the regional season, showcasing the highest level of organized play.

Online Tournaments: Online World Series 250

This category covers the official online competitive circuit, hosted exclusively on the Warhall platform. These events are formally known as the World Online Series 250. All WOS 250 events are open tournaments, welcoming any player to participate. Each tournament consists of three matches contested over a typical span of three weeks, allowing players flexibility in scheduling their games. These tournaments may be organized with a maximum frequency of once per month per timezone (US and EU), receiving direct organizational support from the Old World Federation (OWF). To ensure the focus remains purely on strategic gameplay, WOS 250 events do not award any points for painted armies and do not feature a Best Painted Army award.

RANKING

The Old World Federation aims to introduce various “Ranking” systems for players of Warhammer: The Old World who participate in events and tournaments within the circuit.

SuperScore

The SuperScore Ranking is a numerical value assigned to each player who has participated in at least one tournament, designed to reflect their skill level based on victories and placements achieved. The score is calculated using a point system similar to the ATP ranking used in tennis. Each event or tournament organized by the Old World Federation contributes to the accumulation of points valid for the SuperScore ranking. Points are awarded to players finishing first, second, and third, as well as to all players who place in the Top 25% of the tournament, in tournaments with 16 or more participants. The Top 25% includes the top 25% of final standings (rounded down), excluding the first, second, and third place. (For example, in a tournament with 16 participants, the 4th place qualifies for the Top 25%; in a tournament with 20 participants, the 4th and 5th places qualify, etc.)

The importance of the tournament determines the points awarded, according to the following table:

Tournament	First	Second	Third	Top25%	Participating
Online World Series 250	250	165	100	50	7
Regional Series 500	500	330	200	100	13
Grand Prix 1000	1000	650	400	200	21
Finals	2000	1300	800	400	37

Best Finish Limits (beta)

The BFL Ranking is an evolution of the classic Superscore system. To reward peak performance, only a specific number of your top results in each tournament category are counted toward your annual ranking.

Tournament	Best Finish Limits
Online World Series 250	Top 4 results
Regional Series 500	Top 5 results
Grand Prix 1000	Top 3 results
Finals	Top 2 results

In addition, for longer events—specifically 2-day, 5-match Regional Series 500 and Grand Prix 1000 tournaments—Superscores are boosted by 1.3x (+30%). Examples for first places:

- Regional 500 Winner: 650 points (up from 500).
- Grand Prix 1000 Winner: 1,300 points (up from 1,000).

ELO

The ELO Ranking is a numerical value assigned to each registered player, designed to reflect their skill level based on their performance in each individual match. The score is calculated using the ELO system, created by Arpad Emrick Elo, which updates players' ratings after every game, taking into account the opponent's rating as well. If a player exceeds expectations by winning more than predicted, their score increases; otherwise, it decreases. Each event or tournament organized by the Old World Federation contributes to the accumulation of points valid for the ranking.

Hall of Fame

Each year, with the consent of those involved, we will dedicate a special section on the Play Old World portal to celebrate those who distinguish themselves during the tournament season, reaching the pinnacle of the global and regional community. The names of the winner of the annual Ranking, the number 1 in the Hall of Fame Ranking as of December 31, the national champions and the winners of Grand Prix events.

ROLES AND RESPONSIBILITIES

Roles within the tournament can be flexible. For example, the Organizer may also act as a Referee, and a Player who has finished their match can become a Spectator until the end of the round.

Player

The Player is an active participant in the tournament. In addition to following normal rules of courtesy and respect, the Player is responsible for all of their own gaming materials, which include miniatures, dice, tokens, any scenic elements, and all publications related to the army being used. It is also recommended to bring glue for emergency repairs, a calculator, and materials for note-taking, such as tracking spells or damage. The Player is expected to have a solid knowledge of the rules, in order to facilitate smooth games and minimize time lost on rule checks. The Player is also required to register for the tournament through the portal, upload their army list, and report the results of their games on the Play Old World portal. They must also remind their opponent of any mandatory actions required by the rules (e.g., compulsory troop movements), since both players are jointly responsible for the correct progress of the game.

Organizer

The Organizer manages the tournament and takes care of logistics, equipment, and the venue. They are responsible for entering all relevant information in the tournament's "Description" section at the time of publication. They must also ensure that the annual fee is paid to the federation, otherwise the tournament will be canceled. Among their duties is the appointment of at least one Referee to guarantee the proper handling of the game phases.

Referee

The Referee is responsible for enforcing the rules and the provisions of this document during the tournament. They intervene only when requested by a Player or a Spectator. In situations not clearly covered by the rules, the Referee may provide their own interpretation (valid only for the current tournament and not binding for future events), or they may decide to let the players determine the interpretation by rolling a die. At the federation level, there is a refereeing team that serves as a regulatory point of reference for all Old World Federation events. This team drafts and periodically updates a series of questions and answers regarding less clearly defined situations.

Spectator

A Spectator is anyone who observes a game without directly participating. They may not interfere with or disrupt the progress of the match but are required to report to the Referee any irregularities they observe. It is then up to the Referee to intervene and request clarification from the players involved.

PUBLICATIONS IN USE

The following publications related to Warhammer: The Old World are considered valid:

- Core ruleset
- Ravening Hordes
- Forces of Fantasy
- Matched Play Guide (limited to the references indicated in this Infopack)
- FAQ and Errata published on warhammer-community.com

Arcane Journal:

- Kingdom of Bretonnia
- Tomb Kings of Khemri
- Orc and Goblin Tribes
- Dwarven Mountain Holds
- Warriors of Chaos
- Empire of Man
- High Elves
- Wood Elves
- Beastmen Breyherds
- Armies of Grand Cathay
- Dawn of the Storm Dragon
- The War of Settra's Fury
- The Razing of Wasterland

In addition, depending on the tournament formats, legacy armies their related FAQs, and the mercenary companies available on the official Warhammer: The Old World website are considered valid.

The community Questions & Answers prepared by the refereeing team are also considered valid.

PARTICIPATING IN AN OWF TOURNAMENT

Every Old World Federation tournament and event must be published on the Play Old World portal and must include the following information, in order to ensure proper organization and avoid unexpected issues for participants:

- Format
- Table dimensions
- Game scenarios and related secondary missions
- Terrain elements

Anything not specifically stated will follow the rules described here. Events may consist of 3, 4, or 5 , even spread across multiple days, depending on the event category (Regional Series, Grand Prix, Finals).

To join an Old World Federation event, just register on the PLAY Portal and sign up to the event. If the maximum player limit is reached, you will be placed on a waiting list. This list is strictly managed: if a player drops out, their slot will be immediately offered to the person who has been waiting the longest

TOURNAMENT FORMATS

These are the available tournament formats:

	STANDARD	APEX	LIMITED
Points limit	2000 points	2000 points	Regional Limited Composition
Composition set	Combined Arms	Combined Arms + Grand Melee
Legacy Armies	NO	YES
Mercenaries	YES	YES
Allies	NO	NO

The “Combined Arms” composition set is available in the Matched Play Guide, p. 13; see also the section “Notes on the Combined Arms composition.”

The “Grand Melee” composition set is available in the Matched Play Guide, p. 13.

Notes on the “Combined Arms” composition

1. Any units that can normally be selected in one category but, due to the presence of certain characters, can also be purchased in another category may be taken in greater numbers than the original category alone would allow. Example: In a Grand Army, Sisters of Avelorn may be taken twice as Rare units, and one additional unit may be taken as a Core choice if a Handmaiden of the Everqueen is the army general.
2. Any unit with a specific limitation must follow that specific limitation rather than the general category limitation of Combined Arms. Example: High Elf Eagle-Claw Bolt Throwers in a Sea Guard Garrison are Special units limited to 0–3 per 1000 points. In a 2000-point game, up to 6 may be fielded.
3. Any unit that can be purchased as a mount is subject to the same repetition limits the unit would have within the army, unless otherwise specified in the composition. Extensions granted by army rules and/or specific characters still apply. Example: In a Nehekharan Royal Hosts list, the Khemrian Warsphinx taken as mount is not subject to its usual limit. In a Vampire Counts Grand Army with a Strigoi Ghoul King as General, the army may field 0–1 Terrorgheist per 1000 points as Rare, plus one additional as a Special choice. The total is therefore 3, whether taken as standalone units or as mounts.
4. Any unit whose availability depends on purchasing another unit or character is not subject to the Combined Arms limitations. Example: An Orc and Goblin Tribes Grand Army with 5 Night Goblin characters may field a maximum of 5 Night Goblin Mob units.
5. Any unit restricted by a “category” limit must still respect the Combined Arms restrictions.
Example: An Empire of Man Grand Army may field up to 6 War Machines in the Special category, of which no more than 3 may be Great Cannons.

Regional Limited Composition

Limited composition differs region by region following the formats in this table. For reference, each composition presented in the following table, are listed on Appendix A

	REGIONAL LIMITED COMPOSITION
Italy	The Tilean ONE

TABLE DIMENSIONS

These are the table sizes allowed in an OWF tournament:

Standard: 48" x 72" (approximately 120 x 180 cm)

Mini: 44" x 60" (approximately 110 x 150 cm)

GAME SCENARIO

The tournament organizer may select any of the scenarios included in the Warhammer: The Old World core rules and the Matched Play Guide. Some scenarios in the Matched Play Guide have different Game Length modes, so the chosen mode (Fixed or Break Point) must be indicated. When creating a tournament on the Play Old World portal, it is mandatory to specify the scenarios chosen and the order in which they will be played. It is recommended to include at least one round using the "Open Battle" or "Fields of Glory" scenario in Fixed Turns mode (Matched Play Guide, p. 13).

Notes on Scenarios

Below are some clarifications regarding Warhammer: The Old World scenarios:

Duration

Each tournament game (round) has a maximum duration of 2 hours and 45 minutes. All scenarios are considered to have a fixed maximum of 6 turns. The "Random Game Length" mode is not compatible with tournament timing and is therefore not selectable.

Deployment and First Turn

The "Matched Play Deployment" system and the "First Turn" rule described in the Matched Play Guide (p. 17) are in effect.

Break Point

For both the Break Point scenario and any new scenarios using the Break Point mode, the rules described in the Matched Play Guide (pp. 18–19) apply. If both players achieve a Break condition, the winning player cannot score more than a MINOR VICTORY, as described on p. 18 of the Matched Play Guide. In this case, the winning player must, if necessary, reduce their Victory Points to one less than the difference required for a RESOUNDING VICTORY (i.e., no more than 750 Delta VP).

Command & Control

For this scenario, always choose an impassable terrain feature from those on the table and place it exactly at the center. If no impassable terrain is available, select another type of terrain feature and place it at the center. Alternatively, the organizer may provide an extra terrain feature for each table to place at the center, in addition to those already present. Regardless of the chosen feature, it will be considered a “special feature” and always impassable. Once the central element is placed, ensure that all other terrain elements on the table are at least 9” away from the central element. If not, reposition the remaining elements to maintain proper distance. The type of special feature must be the same for all players, chosen from those listed on pages 273–275 of the Warhammer: The Old World manual, and communicated in the additional event information on the Play Old World portal. The specific rules for the selected “special feature” apply as indicated on pages 273–275 of the manual.

Secondary Objectives in Matched Play Guide Scenarios

Scenarios in the Matched Play Guide that include “Secondary Objectives” must always include the mandatory objectives (marked as “must”) and may include optional objectives (marked as “may”). Optional objectives are not required and should generally be limited to 1 or 2 in addition to the mandatory objectives. When creating a tournament, the organizer must always specify which secondary objectives are in effect for each scenario that includes them, including the mandatory ones.

It is the organizer’s responsibility to provide any additional terrain elements required by the scenarios or secondary missions, such as Strategic Location markers or Special Features.

Players are encouraged to bring their own Baggage Train, to be considered an integral part of the army, allowing full creativity and customization. Baggage Trains do not contribute to the points for a Fully Painted Army but may be considered when awarding the Best Painted Army prize.

ARMYLISTS

Deadlines for Submitting Lists

For World Online Series 250, Regional Series 500, and Grand Prix 1000 tournaments, whether individual or team events, lists must be uploaded to the Play Old World portal using the tournament check-in function, according to the following deadlines:

- By 11:59 PM on Tuesday if the tournament starts on Saturday.
- By 11:59 PM on Wednesday if the tournament starts on Sunday.

For Finals tournaments, list submission deadlines are indicated in the tournament description under the “Additional Information” section. Participants are also requested to respect the deadlines set by organizers for event participation fees. All details are always available in the “Additional Information” section.

List Verification

Organizers are not required to check the correctness of submitted lists. In case of errors, penalties described in the “Sanctions and Cards” section will apply.

The tournament referee will agree with the player on list corrections, making the minimum changes necessary to make the list legal.

Approved Builders and Formats

- Old World Builder (use in English recommended; export in “minimalist” text format recommended).
- New Recruit (reduced text format recommended).

TERRAIN FEATURES

The organizer may choose to provide at least 8 terrain elements per table, allowing players to set up the battlefield following the alternate placement procedure described in Warhammer: The Old World (p. 268) (each element counts as 1, regardless of size). Alternatively, tables may be pre-set by the organizers. This mode is mandatory in Grand Prix and Finals.

Regardless of the choice, terrain elements MUST NOT:

- Exceed 12” at their widest point
- Be smaller than 2”
- Be placed less than 9” from the center of the table
- Be placed less than 3” from another element (except where scenario-specific rules apply)
- Be placed less than 4” from the table edge

Terrain reference chart

The following table summarizes the characteristics and rules applied to the scenic elements used in the tournaments of the Old World Federation.

Type	Suggested size (*)	Rules
Hill	6"x8"	Hills
Forest	6"x10"	Woods Difficult Terrain Natural Feature
Ruin	8"x8"	Difficult Terrain
Impass (big)	6"x8"	Impassable Terrain () High Linear Obstacle
Impass (small)	6"x6"	Impassable Terrain () High Linear Obstacle
Water	6"x10"	Dangerous terrain No Cover Natural Feature
Field	6"x8"	Difficult Terrain No Cover

Wall	1"x8"	Defended Low Linear Obstacle
-------------	-------	---------------------------------

Scenery elements marked as No Cover do not provide any cover to models or units that are inside them, nor if the element lies between the shooter and the target. Hills and forests, however, follow their standard cover rules.

All other scenery elements provide cover based on the proportion of models involved:

- Light Cover if up to 50% of the models in the unit are inside the scenery element (or behind it, for the target unit);
- Heavy Cover if more than 50% of the models in the unit are inside (or behind) the scenery element.

(*) In the case of "OWF Finals" Tournaments, the recommended sizes will actually be in use during the event.

() When tracing a line of sight, if it passes through the base of any "Impassable terrain" element, it is considered blocked. This note applies even if one or both of the models involved in the line of sight check are positioned on elevated ground or have the Large Target rule.

GAME PACE

Outside of tournaments, many players do not complete games within a set time. Therefore, when an organizer announces "two hours remaining," most participants do not automatically think, "We should be finishing the first turn soon!" To help manage time, instead of simply announcing the remaining time, event staff may provide guidance on which phase of the game players should be in based on the time elapsed. These updates can also be displayed on screens in the gaming area. Announcements serve to maintain game pace but are not binding.

On average, the time breakdown for a typical game is as follows:

- Scenario review and army list check: 5 minutes (total for both players)
- Model deployment: 10 minutes (total for both players)
- First Turn: 20 minutes per player
- Second Turn: 18 minutes per player
- Third Turn: 15 minutes per player
- Fourth Turn: 10 minutes per player
- Fifth Turn: 10 minutes per player

Time milestones for game progress are as follows:

- 2:45 remaining: Official start of the game
- 2:40 remaining: End of pre-game discussions and decisions

- 2:30 remaining: End of deployment, start of First Turn
- 1:50 remaining: End of First Turn, start of Second Turn
- 1:14 remaining: End of Second Turn, start of Third Turn
- 0:44 remaining: End of Third Turn, start of Fourth Turn
- 0:24 remaining: End of Fourth Turn, start of Fifth Turn
- 0:04 remaining: Do not start a new turn without Referee approval

Referees may use various methods to speed up or ensure completion of games if time milestones are repeatedly missed. All players are required to finish their games within 2 hours and 45 minutes and should choose army lists with which they are comfortable completing the game within this time limit. Using time as a tactic to disadvantage an opponent is not allowed.

Games allow up to 6 turns per player, but since it is often difficult to complete all 6 turns within this time, the realistic goal is to complete at least 5 turns per player.

PAINTING, MODELS FROM OTHER MANUFACTURERS, AND PRE-PAINTED MODELS

In Old World Federation tournaments, players can earn a tournament points bonus by fielding a fully BATTLE READY army—that is, models painted with at least three colors and with painted and/or textured bases (adapters do not need to be painted or textured). All models must be properly based (or have adapters) as indicated in their entry on the army list.

The miniatures deployed in the army must reasonably represent the units selected in the army list. Additionally, the same miniature may not be used to represent two different types of units (e.g., using a Chaos Warriors chariot to represent both a standard Chaos Warriors chariot and a Chosen chariot).

Models from any manufacturer are allowed, provided they are in the 28–35 mm scale range. Pre-painted models (such as Clix, DnD Miniatures, or Lego) are also permitted. Players using armies with pre-painted miniatures (e.g., Lego, Clix, etc.) cannot receive the Fully Painted Army recognition and the associated tournament points.

LANGUAGE

For standard regional tournaments, the official game language is the native language of the specific OWF Region (e.g., Italian in Italy, English in the USA or England, etc.).

However, in all international tournaments (such as Grand Prix, Finals, or specially designated events), the official default language is English if one of the opponents is not a native speaker of the regional language.

Regardless of the official policy, we strongly encourage all players to mutually agree on the language that ensures the best and clearest experience for both participants, prioritizing sportsmanship and communication.

VICTORY

At the end of the tournament, the player with the highest number of tournament points will be declared the winner of the tournament.

A player's total Tournament Points are calculated by summing the points awarded for each game played, plus points for a fully painted army, minus any applicable penalties.

GAME TOURNAMENT POINTS

Each game played in the tournament awards a player between 0 and 6 Tournament Points (TP). These points are distributed based on the following process:

1. Calculate Victory Points (VP): At the conclusion of the game, players count the Victory Points earned according to the rules outlined in the "Victory" section of the Matched Play Guide.
2. Determine the Difference (Δ VP): Compare your final Victory Points with those of your opponent to calculate the delta (Δ VP).
3. Award Tournament Points: Tournament Points (TP) are then awarded to both players based on the Δ VP, using the standard table from the Matched Play Guide, which is reported below:

Delta Victory Points (Δ VP)	Winner TP	Loser TP
0-300 (DRAW)	3	3
301-750 (MINOR)	4	2
751-1400 (RESOUNDING)	5	1
1401+ (CRUSHING)	6	0

TIE BREAKERS

In case of a tie in Tournament Points, rankings will be determined using the following tie-breaking criteria:

- Sum of the Victory Points differential (Δ VP) across all games
- Sum of all Victory Points (VP+) earned in all games

MANAGING A BYE

Not all tournaments have an even number of participants. Organizers may designate a "reserve" player who, in case of an odd number of participants, joins from the start of the tournament, fully participating to ensure an even number of players. If this is not possible and the number of players is odd, a BYE will be assigned to the participant without an opponent: in the first round, the pairing will be random; in subsequent rounds, it will be assigned to the player lowest in the standings. The Play Old World portal will automatically award the player paired with a BYE a 6–0 victory, with a Delta VP set to the minimum required to achieve this result (1401 VP).

PENALTY POINTS

Penalty Points (PEN) are assigned at the end of each game:

- Each Yellow Card: -1 tournament point
- Each Red Card: -3 tournament points

Cards and sanctions are assigned by the referee in cases of misconduct, at their sole discretion. Yellow and Red Cards apply only to the current game, while a Black Card results in immediate expulsion from the tournament

Examples of Yellow Card offenses:

Any attempt to distract the opponent or deliberately waste time

“Strategic rule forgetfulness”

Deliberate delay in submitting results or extending a game beyond the time limit

Submitting the army list on the Play Old World portal after the deadline set by the organizer, after participant lists are published, or with errors in the list (Yellow Card applied in the first game)

Examples of Red Card offenses:

Moving miniatures secretly

Repeated misconduct toward the opponent

Any attempt to manipulate or circumvent the rules continuously or other unethical actions to gain an advantage

Using an irregular army list (Red Card applied for each game played with that list during the tournament)

Examples of Black Card offenses:

Using loaded dice or other rigged accessories

Extremely serious misconduct, such as insults, threats, physical aggression, etc.

FULLY PAINTED ARMY POINTS

Fully Painted Army Points (PP) are awarded once per tournament to players fielding a fully painted army, according to the following table:

Event Type	Fully painted army points
Regional Series 500	1 TP
Grand Prix 1000	1 TP for each match played
OWF Finals	1 TP for each match played

Players using armies with pre-painted miniatures (e.g., Lego, Clix, etc.) cannot receive the Fully Painted Army recognition or the associated tournament points.

AWARDS

In tournaments organized by the Old World Federation, in addition to the prizes awarded to the top three finishers (winner, second and third place), a special prize should always be given for the Best Painted Army.

This prestigious recognition will be determined by one of two methods:

- Joint Judgment: Based on the collective evaluation of the Referees and the Tournament Organizer. Criteria include painting quality, thematic consistency, and attention to detail.
- Community Vote: Alternatively, the winner may be elected via a vote cast by all tournament participants.

To be eligible for this prestigious award, players must present an army fully painted by themselves. Only those who have personally painted all the models in their army will be considered.

Players using partially painted armies or pre-painted miniatures are excluded from competing for the Best Painted Army prize. The aim of this award is to recognize the artistic talent and dedication of players who invest time and care into painting and customizing their armies, making each model on the battlefield unique.

TEAM TOURNAMENTS

TEAM COMPOSITION

Each player on a team must field a valid and unique army. Each army must comply with the army composition rules of the tournament format (EURO, STANDARD, OPEN). No army list may be used more than once per team (e.g., a team cannot field both a Kingdom of Bretonnia Grand Army and a Kingdom of Bretonnia Exiles list—only one Kingdom of Bretonnia composition is allowed).

Captain

Each team may have up to one Captain. The Captain may be a team player or a non-playing Captain. A Captain is authorized to:

- Give brief commands on what to do (but not how to do it)
- Perform match pairings
- Consult with all the player in the team, once per game, for a maximum of 3 minutes (timeout call)
- If a non-playing Captain, substitute for a player for consecutive games
- Communicate with the opposing Captain to resolve issues arising during matches
- Interrupt a team member's game to call a referee if cheating (or unintentional errors) are detected

A Captain may speak normally with players in Italian or a mutually understood language, but only openly. General advice is permitted (e.g., “play more aggressively”), but specific instructions are not allowed (e.g., “position that unit here to defend your War Machine”). During a 3-minute timeout, the Captain may speak privately or whisper in any preferred language. A Captain may not consult the same player more than once per game, even if the full 3 minutes were not used during the first consultation.

During the tournament, if the Captain is non-playing, they may substitute for a player. The team may not change armies, and substitution may occur only once, even if the Captain later returns to a non-playing role. The Captain may play any number of consecutive games substituting for a player, but once the original player returns, the Captain cannot switch places again with them or other players.

Captain Limitations

The team risks penalties if the Captain:

- Explains how to do something or gives tactical advice (except during the 3-minute consultation)
- Interrupts a game

- Violates rules on delays, cheating, or misconduct
- Passes notes or communicates secretly with players

TEAM TOURNAMENT FORMATS

Old World Federation team tournament formats:

- 3-player teams
- 5-player teams

3-player team tournaments are held in one day with 3 games and are called Tilean Team Series 500 (Level 1 events). Minimum participants: 8 teams (24 players).

5-player team tournaments are held over two days with 5 games and are called Team Grand Prix 1000 (Level 2 events). Minimum participants: 8 teams (40 players).

OWF Finals – Team Grand Tournament follows specific rules for that event. Online team tournaments are not allowed.

PARTICIPATING IN A TEAM TOURNAMENT

Upon arrival, your team will be randomly paired with an opposing team for the first round. After this round and result processing, teams will be paired using a Swiss system similar to individual tournaments.

Determining Player Matchups

A pairing system is used to determine which player faces which opponent. Examples for 3- and 5-player teams follow.

3-Player Team Pairing Sequence:

- Both Captains select one army from their team and place the card face-down.
- Cards are revealed to show selected armies.
- Both Captains submit the remaining two armies.
- Each Captain selects one of the opponent's two revealed armies to face their team's revealed army. The remaining armies face each other in the third game.
- Once all matchups are set, tables for each game are randomized.

5-Player Team Pairing Sequence:

Phase 1 (First Two Matchups)

- Both Captains select one army to deploy and place the card face-down.
- Cards are revealed.
- Both Captains select two armies from the remaining four to face the opponent's revealed army (secret selection, revealed simultaneously).

- Each Captain chooses one of the two opponent armies to face their team's revealed army. The remaining army returns to the Captain's hand (3 remaining).

Phase 2 (Matchups 3, 4, and 5)

- Repeat steps 1 and 2.
- Repeat step 3: both Captains select two armies to face the opponent's revealed army. Only two cards remain, simplifying selection.
- Each Captain chooses one of the two opponent armies to face their team's revealed army. This determines matchups 3 and 4; the remaining armies face each other in matchup 5. Army choices remain secret until both Captains have decided.

Conclusion

Once all matchups are complete, tables for each game are randomized.

WINNING THE TEAM TOURNAMENT

At the tournament's end, after processing results, the winning team is determined based on the total Tournament Points earned by the team each round. Tournament Points for each individual game are calculated as described in this infopack, similar to individual matches. However, the maximum Tournament Points per game are capped:

- 12 for 3-player teams
- 20 for 5-player teams

The minimum points are:

- 8 for 3-player teams
- 10 for 5-player teams

Tie Breakers

In case of a tie, the total uncapped Tournament Points is used to determine the winner. If still tied, the sum of all team Victory Point differentials is used. If a tie persists, the sum of all Victory Points earned by the team is considered.

Penalty Points and Fully Painted Army Points

Follow the rules described in the "Victory Assignment" section.

Ranking ELO

For Team Tournaments, the ELO Ranking is determined on a team level, yielding a Team ELO value (average ELO for the team). This value is then used to compare against the opposing team. Critically, the match result and subsequent ELO adjustment are based entirely on the team's collective performance and final outcome, overriding any single player's individual results.

Legacy factions admitted, Mercenary admitted, Allies not admitted

Rule of One

1. No army list choice may be included more than once, including characters, regardless of whether it can be purchased in different unit slots (e.g. a unit available as both Core and Special).
2. For armies that explicitly require two or more identical units (e.g. Knights Errant in the Aol Errantry Crusades), that requirement must still be respected.
3. If an army has only one Core choice and has no way to field additional Core options (e.g. Aol Slayer Host), it may deploy two Core units of that same choice (e.g. Slayers).
4. Any Named Character that counts as a specific choice according to the Named Characters rules occupies that choice (e.g. Lady Élisée Duchard is a "Prophetess" and therefore cannot be fielded alongside another Prophetess; the Green Knight, having no associated choice, may be fielded together with other Characters).
5. No Rune from the Dwarfen Mountain Holds or "Extremely Common" magic item may be taken more than once within the same army list.
6. No mount available to Characters may be used more than once, except for mounts of the "Cavalry" type. If a mount is also available in an unmounted version (e.g. Chariots, Sky Lanterns, Khemrian Warsphinx), only one may be included in the entire army list, whether mounted or unmounted.
7. No wizard may ever gain more than a +1 bonus to casting rolls beyond their base bonus during a game (e.g. a Level IV wizard may never cast spells with a bonus higher than +3).
8. Only one Behemoth choice with the Fly(x) rule may be included in the army list.

Points Limits

- No Character, Named Character, or single-model unit (e.g. Warpfire Dragon, Arachnarok Spider) may cost more than 540 points.
- No unit consisting of two or more models may exceed 300 points.

APPENDIX B

INFOPACK COMMENTARY

This document is designed as a “living document”, continuously updated and refined by its authors to reflect the evolving nature of the game and the Warhammer: The Old World community.

The Old World Federation project was officially launched in our February release. This initiative aims to provide the global Old World Community with a unified standard for tournament play, closely following the official Matched Play Guide. Crucially, it also offers local, regional alternatives to foster diversification and variety within the system. We are proud to launch this absolute first-of-its-kind effort to create a widespread, connected community around the game, giving our passionate members the incredible home they deserve.

The content presented here is not set in stone.

We encourage all players to share feedback via email (federation@oldworldfederation.com) or through our social media channels to help us continually improve.

Over the coming months, we will continue introducing updates and innovations to ensure the global Warhammer: The Old World scene remains dynamic, engaging, and enjoyable.

Stay connected!
